

LA JOURNEY
Zoelle Rose

A Night of Storytelling, Sarcasm and Observation

“Culturally Confused, Unapologetically Honest”

An unforgettable night of observational comedy that connects cultures, cracks open the quirks of daily life, and will leave you laughing and thinking. Perfect for audiences who appreciate storytelling with a message and performances that make you think as well as laugh.

From technology to fashion, relationships to cultural differences (yes there are things Americans, Germans and French people just don't get about each other), Zoelle Rose takes the audience on a hilarious, satirical journey through the absurdities of modern life. Things that make us laugh, lose our minds or just shake our heads. All with a dash of heart, because at the end of the day we're all just trying to make sense of it all.

What to expect:

- Hilarious takes on everyday chaos
- A fresh funny perspective on relationships, technology and fashion trends
- A sarcastic questioning of things we take for granted
- A night full of observations, sarcasm and heartfelt satire that will leave you questioning everything from your shopping habits to your childhood fears, cookies and phone menus, and even why your favorite socks mysteriously disappear in the laundry.
